CEO comments

The fundamental market drivers are strong. Broadcasters and media network operators continue the analogue switch-off, digitalization and HDTV migration processes across the world. Telcos and cable TV operators start large-scale IPTV rollouts and initial commercial Mobile TV networks are being deployed. Overall there is a huge surge in video traffic across communication networks.

The first nine months of 2008 has been our most profitable period so far with strong margins, positive cash flow and revenue growth. We have built a customer base that generates stable repeat business and we win new customers in new markets. Some larger projects sometimes have longer sales processes and we experience quarterly business fluctuations due to the timing of a number of these projects.

The Beijing Olympics is over and as communicated in the press this was the world's largest and most mission critical TV event. As previously communicated, Net Insight delivered and installed Nimbra equipment under the contract with the Host Broadcaster, BOB. This is a very important project for Net Insight and our network solution has generated strong market interest, which has already generated some new business for us.

Digital TV is on the rise in China, the world's largest TV market, and the government has set an aggressive timetable for the DTT transition process. Mobile TV is also taking off where SARFT plans to rollout Mobile TV services across China by the end of 2009. This creates new opportunities for Net Insight and during the third quarter we received a first order for a TV distribution network in China.

Today we count many telecom operators as customers. In North America, as well as in Asia, we have recently won smaller initial business with telcos but with large-scale IPTV and other networks being deployed over time, these customer relationships represent significant business potential for Net Insight.

We have invested in our sales channels to continue our expansion in our prioritized segments in Europe, Eastern Europe, Middle East and Asia. New local partners and expanded sales resources are driving new business in these areas even though it takes time to gain full speed in newly established sales channels and markets. We actively pursue many new projects in over 30 countries.

The transition to Digital Terrestrial TV continues around the world and is an important market driver for Net Insight's business with numerous business opportunities and customer wins. The size of initial individual DTT contracts has so far been smaller than we first anticipated and in some market areas the digitalization process is taking slightly longer time, but our exceptionally strong references are now a great asset for us.

Our progress in the first part of 2008 has been very encouraging and Net Insight is in a good position to capture the growth opportunities in our identified markets. Our market leading product portfolio for efficient media transport, a solid customer base, strong financial position and performance and a growing market presence represent a very good platform for the future.

Business activities during the third quarter

During the third quarter, Net Insight continued to win new customers in our core market segments and the current customer base continued to generate a substantial volume of expansion orders.

Net Insight received its first order from Teracom for delivery of Nimbra equipment to a media contribution network in Sweden. Teracom is Sweden's first media operator, and the new network will interconnect its media contribution networks in Stockholm, Gothenburg and Malmo for simultaneous transport of uncompressed and compressed video.

US media operator HTN Communications continued to expand its Nimbra based transport network across several locations in the United States.

Net Insight received a first order for a TV distribution network in China. The network includes a combination of Nimbra 360 switches with the GPS independent Time

Transfer function and a powerful multicast engine for TV distribution to fixed television, buses, vehicles and mobile handsets.

Broadcast Service Danmark (BSD) selected Net Insight for an expansion of the Digital Terrestrial TV distribution network in Denmark. BSD's DTT network is built on the Nimbra platform and has been operational since March 2006 and this new expansion enables BSD to support new customers with media transmission services.

An existing North American customer continued to expand their media transport network to carry media services for professional media companies across the U.S. The network offer high capacity transmissions to deliver uncompressed and compressed HD and SD video services over the Nimbra platform.

A global news agency network operator selected Net Insight to deliver a video contribution network. This new customer delivers news content to broadcasters around the world and will use the Nimbra platform to carry video, voice and data from key sites of its global network.

Partnerships

Net Insight continued to develop the partner network, e.g. in Asia, to further support sales growth and local support to customers.

Marketing activities

At IBC2008 in Amsterdam Net Insight demonstrated the full Nimbra range including world leading DTT and Mobile TV transport solutions, multi-service contribution for the Broadcast & Media industry and a unique combination of QoS, scalability and flexibility for IPTV and CATV networks.

In a joint demonstration Net Insight showcased a live demonstration of holographic-appearing telepresence. The demonstration showed a remote-based presenter projected as a holographic-appearing image on a DVE podium. TeliaSonera International Carrier transported the data stream over its switched European media network from Stockholm to the IBC show floor in Amsterdam using Net Insight's high-capacity Nimbra switches. The final effect simulated reality, permitting video images of people to appear to be positioned in the actual room.

In cooperation with TeliaSonera International Carrier, Panasonic Professional Plasma Displays and Digital Video Systems, Net Insight also delivered a first-of-its-kind demonstration, where uncompressed 1080p50 video was streamed over a switched media network from Stockholm to Amsterdam. The showcases generated extensive trade press coverage and demonstrated how the Nimbra platform enables the most advanced video applications.

New product introductions

In conjunction with the IBC exhibition, Net Insight announced the availability of the Nimbra 688 multi-service switch. Based on the Nimbra 600 series, the Nimbra 688 switch is especially aimed at fulfilling the highest demands in terms of capacity and availability of the professional media industry, telco and CATV / IPTV networks, offering twice the access and trunk port count of Net Insight's Nimbra 680.

Significant events after the end of the period

Net Insight received an order from KPN to expand its existing national multi-service media network which has been operational since the beginning of 2006 and provides services like video, data and audio connectivity between all major TV-studios in the Netherlands as well as all TV feeds for the digital terrestrial TV and KPN's mobile TV services. KPN Broadcast Services will now deploy a new solution for TV coverage of 18 top football stadiums based on Net Insight's Nimbra platform.

Outlook

The Board is pleased with the progress for the first nine month period 2008 and remains confident that the positive development will continue, with quarterly fluctuations.

Sales and earnings

Nine months

Net sales for the nine months period increased by 22% to SEK 204.1 million (167.2). Sales of software, support, and services increased to SEK 74.6 million (37.6) and accounted for 37% (22) of total sales. This increase is mainly related to the leasing agreement with Beijing Olympic Broadcasting for equipment to the Olympic games, which expired September 30th. The EMEA region accounted for SEK 96.5 million (134.1) of total sales. The temporary decrease is mainly related to the completion of the main project with Norkring in 2007. The North America and the APAC regions both accounted for a strong growth for the nine months period, which more than offset the lower volumes in the EMEA region. North America sales increased to SEK 55.2 million (29.0) and APAC sales increased to SEK 52.4 million (4.1). The Broadcast & Media Networks segment represented approx. 85% of total sales and Digital Terrestrial TV & Mobile-TV Networks 15%.
